

District of Columbia.
County of Alexandria, to wit: 1818.
November Term.
IN CHANCERY.
James Sanderson, Complainant, vs.
F. McCall, and John Creighton vs. William Gilham, the two last under firm of John Creighton & Company, Defendants.

Defendant Catherine F. McCall, not having entered her appearance and security according to the statute and the of this court, and it appearing that the said defendant, Catherine F. McCall, an inhabitant of this District—on motion of the said complainant, by his counsel ordered, That the said defendant, Catherine F. McCall, do appear here on the day of the next Term, and enter her appearance to the suit, and give security performing the decrees of the court; and the other defendants, John Creighton company, do not pay away, convey or release, the debts by them owing to, or state or effects in their hands belonging to the said absent defendant Catherine McCall, until the further order or decree of this court; and that a copy of this order be forthwith published for two months in one of the public newspapers published in this country; and that a copy be posted at the front door of the house of the said court.

A copy.

PROPOSALS
BY JOSEPH M. SANDERSON,
for publishing by subscription,
BIOGRAPHY OF THE SIGNERS
TO THE
Declaration of Independence,
ACCOMPANIED WITH PLATES;
which will be annexed a history of the proceedings of congress during the passage of the law, and the Declaration itself, with fac-simile engravings of the signatures.

By PAUL ALLEN, Esq.
TO THE PUBLIC.
seems a little surprising that amongst so many subjects as have been presented for American Biography, the lives of the men who have signed their signatures to the Declaration of Independence have been looked on or disregarded. The eyes of us have dwelt with rapture upon the document that announced to the world that these United Colonies were, and of right ought to be, free, sovereign, and independent states; while we are better acquainted with the handwriting than with the characters of many of those illustrious men who have added their signatures to that important document. The founders of the new republic on the globe, have, with splendid exceptions, gone to their rest, and it behooves a generous posterity, sensible of their obligations, to preserve their fame. The longer we neglect the memory of so sacred a debt, the more difficult does the payment become.—Traits of individual character are fugitive and evan-escent; and if they are not snatched by the hand of the Biographic Muse, at an early season, from the cold grasp of death, will be in part of the oblivion of the body.— It is not the object of the present attempt, deal in that profusion of indiscriminate unsparring panegyric, so often and so seldom dignified with the name of Biography; we wish to represent the characters they were; they stand in need of no patriotic; and we earnestly solicit from the living relations and friends of those revolutionary patriots all the information that can tend to a development of character, and to show the progress of those patriots from their first resistance of colonial oppression, until they stood forth the noble undaunted champions of their country's freedom. All this can only be done by a familiar acquaintance with the lives of these men, and whoever of the surviving sons or relatives will furnish facts and circumstances in their possession to unfold and illustrate their characters, shall be entitled to a copy of the work as a recompense. It is contemplated, wherever it is available, further to embellish the mediated work with correct likenesses of the subjects of our biography, executed by the most eminent artists in the country. For this purpose we again solicit the assistance of their surviving relatives and friends. If any will transmit to the publisher any engraving or portrait from which a copy may be taken, the original shall be faithfully returned, and shall likewise be remunerated with a copy of the work. In the first number it is proposed to give an account of the Declaration of Independence, from the first conception that was made on the floor of congress until its final passage into a law, a period embracing much curious and secret history; finally, we promise to add to our number the Declaration of Independence itself, with fac-simile engravings of the signatures. We have now compendiously stated the objects of our present undertaking, and we hope that it will be unnecessary to mention that no exertions on our part shall be spared.

The public are now in possession of our object, which does indeed seem to be demanded, by the avidity so recently displayed, for the possession of the Declaration of Independence, since it is of very little import to become acquainted with a man's life and writing without a previous knowledge of the man. The secret history of our Declaration of Independence, the lives of those who have affixed their signatures to that important document, accompanied by their likenesses, and finally the Declaration itself with facsimile engravings of the signatures, will bring into prominent view the prominent facts of that interesting crisis.

CONDITIONS.
I. The work will be published in numbers, or half volumes, of 150 pages octavo, and will be contained in ten numbers.
II. It will be printed on fine paper made expressly for the purpose, and delivered to subscribers at two dollars and fifty cents per volume or number, payable on delivery.

Subscriptions will be received at the office of the Alexandria Gazette.

Romulus Riggs's EXCHANGE BANKING-HOUSE, AND BROKER'S OFFICE,

Bridge-street, Georgetown.
THIS is intended as a permanent establishment, and the community will find it one of the greatest conveniences in the United States, and of great public utility.
At this house the fair exchange on the different bank notes from every part of the union can at all times be had: It is to be hoped that, by the operations of this office, the community will get rid of a host of Shuicks, Shavers, Secret and Running Brokers, who infest the District, frequently procuring the failure of country solvent banks, for the express purpose of purchasing the notes of such institutions at great discounts. Business under the following heads will be transacted. This establishment possesses fun-to negotiate for any amount, and all business done for cash.

1st. All bank checks, bills at sight, post notes not due, and bank notes from all parts of the United States, bought and sold.
2d. All notes, bills of exchange, dividends and interests, collected and remitted according to orders.
3d. The notes of the United States' bank and all of its branches received at par.
4th. Strangers, citizens, and others, may deposit current money for safe keeping—and if left for thirty days, or longer, will receive at the rate of six per cent. per annum for the same.
5th. All business in the line of a money broker promptly attended to for a small commission.
6th. All southern and western traders, bringing to the district large sums of southern and western bank notes, can deposit for safe keeping, and draw for the same as may suit their convenience.

7th. Prompt attention paid to the orders of all respectable brokers and exchange offices throughout the United States—who will please to favor me occasionally with their rates of exchange on bank notes and bills.

L. Masterson, BOOT AND SHOE-MAKER.
RETURNS his grateful thanks to his friends and the public in general, for the liberal patronage he has received in his line of business, and hopes they will continue it. He has on hand a good assortment of the best Philadelphia leather, which he intends manufacturing in the best manner, for neatness and durability it will be excelled by none. He has on hand a good assortment of Boots, Bootes and Shoes, which he will sell on reasonable terms for cash, or to punctual customers at the usual credit, at his old stand opposite the Gazette office, Royal-street.

Exchange & Broker's Office,
Georgetown, District of Columbia.

ROMULUS RIGGS.
At his office, next door below Craw-ford's tavern, Bridge-street, Georgetown, will exchange all kinds of Bank Notes on the most reasonable terms.—All persons who may have notes on the banks of North Carolina, South Carolina, and Georgia, would do well to call on him, as he is largely in the purchase of that kind of money, and will take it on the most reasonable terms.—Persons travelling to the Western Country may at all times get the Bank Notes of the Western Banks at a fair discount, by calling at his Office. For the information of all persons throughout the U.
States, R. Riggs makes it known, that all of the Banks of the District of Columbia pay their notes on demand in specie; and it would be much to the advantage of the merchants, and trading to the South and west, to encourage the circulation of the Notes of the Banks of Georgetown, Washington and Alexandria, as it will at all times answer for remittances to the large commercial and Atlantic towns;—all persons emigrating or travelling to the westward should be very particular and take the Notes of the Banks of the District of Columbia, as they will find them the most current, there being no counterfeits on the District Banks. The Merchants' Bank of Alexandria has long been failed—all persons should be on their guard, as they will be imposed on.

Gone to the Southward or Westward.

A YELLOW WOMAN, called Celia Detcher, in the 23d year of her age, about 5 feet 2 or 3 inches high—marks like moles on the right side of her face, which, with several letters on her left arm, were marked with india ink. She is about four months gone in a state of pregnancy—followed her husband, Jim Clark, a yellow man, who was purchased from this place and taken away in company with a large number of slaves, about two week ago, by a man of the name of Basset. It is supposed they have gone to the westward: Celia was born free, and had with her a notarial certificate of her freedom, and description of her person. Her mother, the subscriber, is much afflicted by her manner of going away, and desires that any humane people who may chance to meet with her, will persuade her to return, being apprehensive that when she gets into a strange country, where she will be unknown and out of the reach of her friends and those who would be likely to protect her, attempts may be made by some avaricious and unprincipled persons, to deprive her of her liberty, and sell her for a slave. Should any such attempts be made, fifty dollars reward will be paid to any person who will communicate such information as shall lead to the conviction of the offenders, and the recovery of the woman.
HANNAH DETCHER.
Alexandria, October 6, 1818.

To the Public.

A numerous society has been excited in the minds of our countrymen by the copper plate engraving of the Declaration of Independence, recently published, and accompanied by fac-similes of the signatures of those illustrious patriots who framed the document by which our independence was announced to the world. We feel, while we dwell on these signatures, as if we were ushered into the immediate presence of characters so exalted, and we seem for a time to participate in all the emotion which they felt on the approach of so great a crisis—Hostile armies, desolate fields, towns and cities in conflagration—carnage and death in its most frightful forms spread in prophetic vision on the one hand, and more than all, the complicated horrors, inhumanity and slavery were presented for their acceptance on the other; they deliberated, they passed, they trembled, and at last solemnly appealing to the God of battles, they resolved that the United States were and ought to be free, sovereign and independent. These illustrious patriots, with five solitary exceptions, have now mingled with the common mould—they survive only in their country's glory and in the recollection of a grateful people. But it would be consoling to the present generation, separated as they now are from those patriots, by the intervention of the tomb, to become more intimately acquainted with their revolutionary benefactors. We love to dwell on the features of such men, snatched by the pencil from the oblivion of the grave, and emulate the prominent traits of their biography. Impressed with these ideas, the subscriber proposes, if suitable encouragement is given, to publish the lives of those patriots in numbers, until the whole is completed. The work will be executed in a style not inferior to any European productions, and the portraits by masters of acknowledge merit. The biography will be written by Paul Allen, esq., whose intimacy with the several signers, whose familiarity with the privations and hardships they had to undergo, and whose well known talents will be sufficient to ensure the patronage of an enlightened people. In the execution of this work, all that the publisher dares to promise is, that he will endeavor to deserve the confidence of his countrymen, and that no exertion on his part will be wanting to prevent an abuse of that confidence. He ventures to solicit the assistance of those gentlemen in possession of authentic facts and anecdotes, by communicating the intelligence that will serve to illustrate the characters and to enrich the biography of those founders of the American Republic.—Those who are in possession of their portraits would enlarge the obligation by a loan of the same.
A prospectus with the terms will be given in a few days.

Laws of the District of Columbia.

In the press, and will shortly be published,
By DAVIS & FORCE,
IN THE CITY OF WASHINGTON,
"A COMPLETE CODE OF LAWS

With a copious index, prepared and reported by the Hon. chief justice CRANCH, to the congress of the United States, for their sanction; agreeably to the provisions of the act of the 29th April, 1816, entitled "an act authorising the Judges of the circuit court and the attorney for the District of Columbia, to prepare a code of jurisprudence for the said District."

The laws by which this District is now governed, can only be found by a reference to the numerous volumes containing those of the United States, of the states of Virginia and Maryland, and of England—therefore the acquisition of this code (which will comprise the whole in one volume,) must be considered as of the first importance, by all magistrates, gentlemen of the bar, and citizens in general, who have, heretofore, experienced the necessity of a work of this description.

A few extra copies will be printed for subscribers only as apply previous to the publication of the work.
Gentlemen who wish to be supplied, will please to leave their names at this office.

Wheat, Old Corn, and Maryland Tobacco,

PURCHASED BY
Oct 24 LAWSON & FOWLE.

The National Register

IS a paper which is published, every Saturday, at the city of Washington, in the District of Columbia, and each number contains sixteen pages octavo, in small but very legible type. It makes two volumes in the year; and every volume is accompanied with a copious index. The price per annum is five dollars, payable in advance.
The Public Documents, both foreign and domestic; the proceedings of Congress, and authentic news of every description, are regularly inserted therein, and accompanied by critical and explanatory remarks. Its value is also enhanced by occasional reviews of literary works; and all its sentiments are decidedly American, independent of all party considerations. For this work, which is well established, regularly published, and transmitted weekly to subscribers by the mail, the public patronage is respectfully solicited.

FAREWELL TO NOVA SCOTIA.

By Joshua Marsden, Methodist Missionary.

Thou climate of cold, where the icy winds blow, [pines grow :
Where the maple fire burns and the lofty Ere I quit thy cold shores for a happier clime, [rhyme.

'Til chaunt my farewell in a fragment of Seven years have I travers'd thy desolate woods, [floods

Thy bays, marshes, lakes, and thy icy-pav'd With tempest and snow-drift impeding my course,

And icicles spangling both me and my horse.
I've frequently pass'd in my snow gliding sled, [head,

Thy dark lofty pines that wav'd over my Still humming a tune as I fac'd the cold breeze, [the trees]

Till the snug little settlement peep'd thro' Nor shall I forget in thy winters severe, When crossing bleak marshes and barrens most dear,

Full many a blessing has warmed my heart, Though the cold chill'd my blood, and my fingers would smart.

With a joy unexpress'd I have often surveyed The cottage that cheer'd in thy wilderness made, [could see.

Tho' my lodging was cold, and the stars I Through the chinks of my log room bright twinkling on me.

When the fierce blowing drift had the pathway eras'd, [western fac'd ;
With my staff in my hand I've the north-My saddle-bags over my shoulders well tied, [deep to ride.

I've trudged over the snow, for 'twas too How oft have I 'scaped by the skin of my teeth, [frets beneath,

When the ice was worn thin by the cur-
And when by the showers the torrents were rais'd

I trembled till past-but delivered, I praise'd.
Hence, learn, O my soul, to put trust in thy Lord ; [cord,

His care and past dangers be kept in re-The sea and the desert with safety are cross'd ;

Be faithful—thou shalt not in Jordan be lost.
O scene of my labours, I bid thee adieu ; I love thy rough climate, tho' sightless to view ;

When o'er the wide ocean I sail far away.
I'll think of thy woods—for thy woodlanddewes pray.

Tho' transient thy spring-time, thy winters severe ;

Tho' freezing and sea fog encircle the year ; Yet thy wilds have their game, and thy forests their stores ; [shores.

And kind are the natives who people thy The mouse in thy woods, and the bears in thy brakes ; [thy lakes ;

The trout in thy streams, and the fowl on Thy salmon, thy maple, and fine pome-de-terre,

A bountiful providence jointly declare.
Nor do I forget that fair piety grows, Like an evergreen plant amid thy bleaching snows ; [Nile,

Who rules the green earth from the Oby to Has illumined thy waste with his lucifer smile.

Thy forests and snow-drifts, thy marshes and bogs, [ling fogs,

Thy birch-covered wigwags, and sun-vei-Thy cold rocky soil, and thy winters severe His presence can sweeten, his blessing can cheer ;

For 'tis not in seasons or climes to impart.
The bliss that enlivens and gladdens the heart, [scorch'd isle,

Spitsbergen's cold shores, or Borneo's Can please if illumined with Jesus's smile!

That smile is a spring of delight to the soul, Though tempests arise and the fierce bil-lows roll [wave,

It gladdens the desert, it charms the wild Gives ease in affliction, and hope in the grave.

Ye high-coned pines, and ye balsamic firs !
Ye maples so sweet, and ye quiv'ring poplars ; [heard me proclaim

'Neath your shades I have stood while ye Salvation unbounded through Jesus's name!

But ne'er shall I wander thy woodland again, [reign ;

Where silence and gloom, brother foresters Nor travel thy dreary Peninsula o'er,
From the Canada gulf to the Atlantic shore.

Farewell to thy plains, and adieu to thy hills ! [trills !

Thy deep rapid rivers and wood cutting Thy terrible snow-drifts, thy bleak torpid coast !

Adieu to thy region of sea-fog and frost !

ALEXANDRIA:
FRIDAY FEBRUARY 26, 1819.

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT AT WASHINGTON
Wednesday, February 25.

Yesterday added one day more, and this day will another, and to-morrow another, to the time consumed by debates on the U.
States bank business. I cannot truly say, as I often have good reason for saying of days employed in debate, that yesterday was wasted; for Mr. Sergeant made a very able speech—vigorous in argument, and replete with substantial information. He paid the compliment of warm approbation of his conduct to Mr. Jones, the president of the bank, whom he represented as having distinguished himself in that office by his zeal and industry—indeed to an amount that impaired his health. He justified the banks selling drafts for a profit, on the ground that they were authorised to sell drafts by the charter, and had as good a right to take a profit as any private individuals; and he considered the large percentum on the dividends to be sufficient evidence of the good management of the bank. He denied the right of Congress to break up the charter, as it was a fair contract over which the legislature had no rightful control; and he said that to the courts of law alone authority belonged to interpose on the occasion. Mr. Pinckney and Mr. Barbour spoke in favor of the repeal, and Mr. Storrs against it—when the committee rose, and the house adjourned.

From the National Intelligencer, Feb. 25.

It is seldom that we have had so acceptable an office to perform, as that of accompanying to our readers the unanimous ratification, by the senate, of a TREATY OF AM-ITY, SETTLEMENT AND LIMITS, BETWEEN THE UNITED STATES AND SPAIN, as recently concluded at this place by Mr. Secretary Adams and Don Luis de Onis.

As the Treaty, though ratified on our part, will not be promulgated officially, until it has also been ratified by the sovereign of Spain, we shall state the principal provisions, as distinctly as we have been able to ascertain them, of this important instrument.

By this treaty, we understand that FLO-RIDA, including all the claims of Spain to territory east of the Mississippi, is ceded in full sovereignty to the United States.

That the Western boundary, between the territory of the United States and that of Spain, is adjusted as follows: Beginning with the mouth of the Sabine river, and running with the west bank thereof to the north west limit of the state of Louisiana; thence by a direct line north to the Red river; thence along the south bank of that river to the 100th degree of longitude; thence on that meridian to the Arkansas; and thence along the Arkansas to its source, in the forty-second degree of North Latitude, and thence upon that parallel to the Pacific.

A sum not exceeding five millions of dollars, is to be paid by the United States, out of the proceeds of the sales of lands in Florida, or in stock or money, as the congress may prescribe, to our own citizens, on account of depredations and other injuries received by them from the government of Spain, or from the governments of the colonies of Spain.

To liquidate these claims, a board is to be constituted by the government of the U. S. of American citizens, to consist of three commissioners, who are to make their report within three years.

There is a mutual renunciation on the part of the two governments, for further claims on each other for depredations, &c.

Spanish citizens are to enjoy, on the principle of the Louisiana treaty, the same privileges as American citizens in the ports of St. Augustine and Pensacola, for the term of twelve years.

These are the essential provisions of the Treaty, which is to take effect on the exchange of the ratifications, within six months of the present date.

It is probable that Mr. Forsyth our newly appointed Minister to Spain, will be the bearer of this Treaty, and that the ratifications will be exchanged long before the commencement of the next session of Congress; in contemplation of which event, it is probable that Congress will, before they adjourn, pass an act authorising the Executive to receive the surrender of the provinces of Florida from the Spanish authorities, and to establish an independent government therein.

We felicitate the country on this amicable and satisfactory termination of the tedious, and hitherto unpleasant negotiations with Spain. The attainment of either of the three objects, the cession of Florida, the settlement of the Western boundary, or the recognition and provision for the adjustment of the claims of our citizens on Spain would have been considered as an epoch in the history of our Foreign Relations.
The union of the three will make this Treaty trebly acceptable to the American people.

It terminates the only existing controversy with any of the European powers.

It rounds off our Southern possessions, and forever precludes foreign emissaries from stirring up Indians to war, and Negroes to rebellion,—whilst it gives to the Southern country important outlets to the sea. It adjusts the vast Western boundary, acknowledging the United States to be sovereign, under the hitherto contested Louisiana treaty, over all the territory we ever seriously contended for. In a word, it is a treaty than which the most sanguine have not anticipated one much more favorable: it is one that fully comes up to the expectations of the great body of the American people.

MELANCHOLY ACCIDENT.

While firing a salute last evening on the Capitol Square, Col. Wm. TATHAM passed in front of one of the cannon within eight feet of the muzzle, at the moment when the match was put to the touch-hole, and was instantly killed by the discharge of the piece.

Baltimore, Feb. 16.
MURDER.

The body of an unfortunate female was found in an outhouse on Federal Hill yesterday morning. The testimony given in by persons in the neighborhood, represented her as a woman of bad character. Marks of violence having been found on her neck and body, the jury of inquest declared a verdict of willful murder by some person unknown. [American.

Charleston, February 19.

Extract of a letter from Mr. Fowler Williams, dated "Bell Air, Lancaster District, S. C. 6th Feb. 1819," to Thos. W.
Bacot, Esq. Postmaster of this city:

"A suspicious person has been taken and lodged in Lancaster jail, from the belief that he is one of the gang of Pirates lately concerned in the robbery and murder committed near the harbor of Charleston. This person calls himself John Patterson, and is I believe a Swede by birth. A quantity of clothing has been found in his possession, marked with the letters L. M. some with the letter M. some with T. G. and some with C. P. and Nos. 1, 2 and 3—some of the letters nicely placed in with open needle work, and others plain with red silk.—I have heard that a similar character has been taken near Statesborough, and made confession. This person has been in the neighborhood about ten days."

From the New-York Gazette, Feb. 20.

Capt. Mills, from Lagaira, informs that it was believed that an important action had taken place between the Spanish troops under Morillo, and the patriot forces commanded by Bolivar. Advances were received early in January from Morillo which were not made public, but which caused a great despondency with the royalists. Immediately after the receipt of the despatches, an order was issued to all the Spanish vessels in port, about 20 in number, to furnish a part of their crews for a guard to patrol the town, and they were kept on duty every night till Capt. M. sailed.

Boston, February 19.

EXECUTION OF THE PIRATES.

Yesterday the sentence of death on John Williams, Francis Frederick, Niles Peterson, alias Niles Peterson Folgreen, and John Rog, convicted of piracy and murder on board the schr Plattsburgh of Baltimore, was executed near the burying ground at Boston neck.

The procession was formed in the following order:—

Officer of police, mounted;
Mr. Sprague, Deputy Marshal, mounted; Messrs. Billings and Baldwin, mounted; Surgeon and Superintendent of Police in a carriage;

Coroner Stephenson, mounted;
Marshal and Sheriff, in a carriage;
Two Constables with badges;

PRISONERS,
[and deputy marshal Bell, and Catholic clergyman, in a wagon.
Two constables with badges;

Curt with Coffins.

Two Aids Mounted.

At the time appointed by the marshal, quarter past eleven o'clock, the procession moved from the court house to the place of execution, where, after prayer and religious conversation until near one o'clock, at that hour the prisoners were executed.
The day was cold, but fair. A very large concourse of spectators were assembled, to behold the awful ceremony. Mr. Bell, who assisted the marshal in his duties, called upon the spectators, and read the following address:—

"My Friends—The execution of the pains and penalties, annexed to the violation of the laws of God and our country, is a scene so awful, that it must at once banish every appearance of levity, and command our highest attention and consideration.

"As the organ of the marshal, whose important duties require his uninterrupted attention, I expect from this numerous assembly that silence and decorum, which this solemnity requires.

"Need I ask for your quiet attention, while, as the minister of justice, he reads the warrant, in which he is compelled to consign to the World of Spirits, the trembling, hoping, dying, penitent malefactor.

"Need I select your silence while their reverend pastor addresses the throne of grace for their pardon and peace.

"No—your sense of propriety will ensure the one, and your best feelings will be engaged in the other.

When the curtain drops which separates the convicts from terrestrial objects, may every aspiration be a prayer to the Throne of Grace for mercy on the sufferers.

After this address, the marshal read the death warrant, and concluded with the following remarks:

"I have now read to you, fellow citizens, the precept, which, while it authorizes, requires I should deprive these four unfortunate men of their earthly existence, and transport their immortal spirits into the Eternal world. It confides to me a solemn authority and imposes an awful duty. And, fellow citizens, if their crimes, since their fatal commission, or their sentence, may have made their beds, beds of thorns, the delegation of this high authority, and the requirement of a discharge of this painful duty, has not placed me on a pillow of roses.

"But amid the multitude of thoughts which have encompassed me, I have derived consolation from a reflection, that the command of society is in exact accordance with that high order of heaven, which directs that 'whosoever sheddeth man's blood by man shall his blood be shed.'

"Whatever may be the motives which have brought many of you to witness this sad scene of death, sure I am, that it cannot but awaken in every breast, those pious and solemn feelings so justly due to the occasion; and that, while, as citizens, you rally round the officers intrusted with the execution of the laws, you will not hesitate to look, with piety and reverence to Him who is above all, and to join with fervency and true devotion, the minister of our Holy Religion, in imploring the God of all grace and supplication, in behalf of these unfortunate men, now about to be ushered into the eternal world, and the immediate presence of their God, and to enter on the morning of eternity.

"They are indeed, strangers among us, far from kindred friends or affectionate relatives, and in a foreign land; but it must be gratifying to you to know, that though the stern hand of justice hath overtaken them, its corrections have been administered with mildness and sympathy; as it is a consolation also to believe that from every region there is a pathway to immortality, and that the spirit which religion has purified and refined, will, when 'freed from the body, find its native country'; for christianity has assured us, that God is no respecter of persons—but of every nation, sect and people, they who fear him and pen-itently confess and repent of their sins, and rely on his mercy shall find grace to help them in time of need."

At the termination of this address, the Rev. Father Larrassey addressed the Throne of Grace in a fervent and holy prayer, and the scene was closed.

About ten minutes after they were executed, the Marshal read that part of the warrant which ordered their bodies to be delivered to the surgeons, if they were called for.—Several surgeons appeared to take them.

Public executions are not frequent among us, and when they do occur considerable excitement is visible. Our people are taught, from their earliest childhood, to commiserate the wretch who has committed a crime, while they abhor his deed.
Such is the sensibility generally shewn towards those whose lives are forfeited by the laws, that if there are any ameliorating circumstances in the case, the power whose prerogative it is to pardon, is assailed from every quarter with humble petitions and entreaties for mercy. Many think this feeling has been too much indulged in our community, and that clemency has too often been shewn to criminals, but we are not of this opinion. This pity to the wretched and guilty, these strong feelings of abhorrence at the frequency of public executions, are proofs of public virtue, for much of patriotism and parity of morals grow out of the affections. Strike dead the sympathies of the heart, and the head is but a miserable guide. Generous sentiments, often, in the abandoned, counteract erroneous reasoning and prevent bad deeds.
Whatever may be the necessity of cutting off the offender, the public should never be outraged by the manner. The delicacy of public feeling should be preserved at almost any expense, and therefore no unnecessary form of ignominy or disgrace should accompany a public execution; for the mind, disgusted with brutality, turns with pity from the fate of the sufferer, and vents its indignation at the wantonness and barbarity of power. There has not been an execution in this Commonwealth for many years that the public mind has not been so perfectly satisfied with the justice of the condemnation that no guard was necessary. Every spectator felt as if he had sat in judgement upon the offender, and was perfectly convinced that the sentence was just. No murmurings, no hissings at a public execution ever disgrace the people here. They generally go out to see the disast spectacle with subdued and religious feelings, and they return deploring the hard necessity that any of their fellow beings should so shamefully die, still reverencing the justice which decrees the execution. These men were ready to die, and earnestly hoped their deaths would be a solemn warning to others. They were humble, penitent and resigned, full of contribution at their deeds of wickedness, but wanted no mercy of man; they had sought it with prayers and tears at the source of Eternal Mercy, and intreated the hope that they were heard. They acknowledged, with gratitude, the kind treatment they had received from the Marshal, the Keeper of the prison and his attendants—but above all they were thankful for the advantages they had received from religious instruction.

The Priest who attended them, was indefatigable in his exertions to bring them to a proper sense of their situation. He labored day and night to explain to them the nature of crime, the necessity of its being punished by human laws, and the hopelessness of the criminal in another world without contrition and repentance, and cheered them with the promises of the gospel through Jesus Christ, if they were humble and sincerely penitent before God.— He instilled into them, day by day, hopes on this basis, and at length had the happiness of seeing the obduracy of the sinful heart yield, and the hardened disposition of the murderer soften. Never did men pass through, in so short a time, a more thorough course of moral and religious discipline. It was constant, pure, and we trust effectual. The good confessor never left them until they were launched into eternity, and had the satisfaction of knowing that their firmness lasted with their breath, and that their last look on this world was brightened by well founded belief in their being happy beyond the grave.

Instead of calling in a wretch stamped with ignominy and steeped with guilt to act as executioner, men of the first respectability perform that service here.—Public executions are considered as a dire necessity, and when they must happen they are to be done in all decency and in order.— The Marshal and Mr. Bell the prison keeper, have treated these unfortunate men with such kindness and delicacy, having frequently fed them from what was prepared for their own tables, and constantly attended to their reasonable and lawful requests —so that they were ready to kiss the hand that tied the fatal cord.

A public execution has, from the earliest history of our country, been conducted with solemn and religious rights.—The people here have never denied the rule from holy writ, "that whoso sheddeth man's blood by man shall his blood be shed"—but still have thought it a solemn and deplorable necessity, and have humbled themselves before God whenever it has occurred.

spectacle with subdued and religious, and they return deploring the necessity that any of their fellow would so shamefully die, still revering the justice which decrees the execution. These men were ready to die, and mostly hoped their deaths would be a warning to others. They were penitent and resigned, full of contrition for their deeds of wickedness, but no mercy of man; they had sought prayers and tears at the source of all mercy, and indulged the hope that were heard. They acknowledged, gratitude, the kind treatment they received from the Marshal, the Keeper of the prison and his attendants—but all they were thankful for the advantage they had received from religious instruction.

The Priest who attended them, was invaluable in his exertions to bring them proper sense of their situation. He day and night to explain to them the nature of crime, the necessity of its punishment by human laws, and the hopelessness of the criminal in another world out contrition and repentance, and red them with the promises of the gospel through Jesus Christ, if they were humbly and sincerely penitent before God. He instilled into them, day by day, hope in his basis, and at length had the happiness of seeing the obduracy of the sinful yield, and the hardened disposition the murderer soften. Never did men through, in so short a time, a more thorough course of moral and religious discipline. It was constant, pure, and we effective. The good confessor never them until they were launched into eternity, and had the satisfaction of knowing their firmness lasted with their breath, that their last look on this world was lightened by well founded belief in their happy beyond the grave.

Instead of calling in a wretch stamped with ignominy and steeped with guilt as an executioner, men of the first respectability perform that service here.—Public executions are considered as a dire necessity, and when they must happen they are done in all decency and in order.—The Marshal and Mr. Bell the prison keepers have treated these unfortunate men with kindness and delicacy, having frequently fed them from what was prepared for their own tables, and constantly attended to their reasonable and lawful requests so that they were ready to kiss the hand that tied the fatal cord.

A public execution has, from the earliest history of our country, been conducted with solemn and religious rights.—The people here have never denied the rule in holy writ, "that whose sheddeth man's blood by man shall his blood be shed"—but still have thought it a solemn and deplorable necessity, and have humbled themselves before God whenever it occurred.

Feb 19 A. MOORE, Comm'r.

At the House of Industry,
HOUSEKEEPERS, and the public in general, have now an opportunity of furnishing their servants with shirts and trousers, strong and made of the best quality of Russia sheeting and duck, at a dollar each article. The articles being bought with ready money, and no profit charged on them, enables the institution to sell them thus low. The only advantage they covet is the employment of the poor, in which every citizen is interested. They have also on hand linen and woolsen shirts, pantalons, jackets and waistcoats, which will be sold very low. A person will attend to exhibit them at their ware-house, corner of Pitt and Prince-streets, near the Potomac bank, from 3 o'clock in the afternoon until night. February 20

Was Committed
TO the jail for the county of Alexandria, on the 17th inst. as a runaway, a negro man, who calls himself MOSES DAVIS, and says he formerly belonged to a Nelly Rallings, at Fell's Point, Baltimore, and that Doctor Colter, of Baltimore, can inform his mistress of him. Said negro is about 27 years of age, five feet, six inches high, dressed in sailor's clothes; he says he sailed from Baltimore twelve years ago with capt. Penrice, in the brig Joseph, and has been absent from his mistress ever since.
The owner is desired to come prove property, pay charges, and take him away, otherwise, he will be disposed of as the law directs.
ANDW. ROUNSAVELL, Jailor. February 20

Spirits, Sugar, &c.
A FEW puncheons of superior quality Antigua and Jamaica spirits Superfine Barbados sugar, in hds Jamaica pimento
Also, a parcel of cocoa nuts—for sale on liberal terms at No. 99 Union-st.

PROPOSALS.
BY JOSEPH M. SANDERSON,
for publishing by subscription,
A BIOGRAPHY OF THE SIGNERS
Declaration of Independence,
ACCOMPANIED WITH PLATES:
To which will be annexed a history of the proceedings of congress during the passage of the law, and the Declaration itself, with fac-simile engravings of the signatures.

By PAUL ALLEN, Esq.

It seems a little surprising that amongst so many subjects as have been presented for American Biography, the lives of those who have effected their signatures to the Declaration of Independence have been overlooked or disregarded. The eyes of thousands have dwelt with rapture upon the document that announced to the world that "these United Colonies were, and of right ought to be, free, sovereign, and independent states;" while we are better acquainted with the handwriting than with the characters of many of those illustrious men who have added their signatures to that instrument. The founders of the only remaining republic on the globe, have, with a few splendid exceptions, gone to their graves, and it belongs to a generous posterity, sensible of their obligations, to preserve their fame. The longer we neglect the payment of so sacred a debt, the more difficult does the payment become.—Traits of individual character are fugitive and evanescent; and if they are not snatched by the hand of the Biographic Muse, at an early season, from the cold grasp of death, will soon partake of the oblivion of the body.—It is not the object of the present attempt, to deal in that profusion of indiscriminate and unparaphrased panegyric, so often and so falsely dignified with the name of Biography: we wish to represent the characters as they were; they stand in need of no panegyric; and we earnestly solicit from the surviving relations and friends of those revolutionary patriots all the information that will tend to a development of character. Man is the creature of circumstance, and we wish to show the progress of those patriots from their first resistance of colonial aggression, until they stood forth the noble and undaunted champions of their country's independence. All this can only be done by a familiar acquaintance with the lives of these men, and whoever of the surviving friends or relatives will furnish facts and circumstances in their possession to unfold and illustrate their characters, shall be entitled to a copy of the work as a recompense. It is contemplated, wherever it is practicable, further to embellish the meditated work with correct likenesses of the subjects of our biography, executed by the most eminent artists in the country. For this purpose we again solicit the assistance of their surviving relatives and friends. If they will transmit to the publisher any engraving or portrait from which a copy may be taken, the original shall be faithfully returned, and shall likewise be remunerated with a copy of the work. In the first number it is proposed to give an account of the Declaration of Independence, from the first motion that was made on the floor of congress until its final passage into a law, a period, embracing much curious and secret history; finally, we promise to add to our last number the Declaration of Independence itself, with fac-simile engravings of the signatures. We have now commendably stated the objects of our present undertaking, and we hope that it will be unnecessary to mention that no exertions on our part shall be spared.

The public are now in possession of our project, which does indeed seem to be demanded, by the avidity so recently displayed for the possession of the Declaration of Independence, since it is of very little import to become acquainted with a man's hand writing without a previous knowledge of the man. The secret history of our Declaration of Independence, the lives of those who have affixed their signatures to that instrument, accompanied by their likenesses, and finally the Declaration itself with fac-similes of the signatures, will bring into one compact view the prominent facts of that interesting crisis.

I. The work will be published in numbers, or half volumes, of 150 pages octavo, and will be contained in ten numbers.
II. It will be printed on fine paper made expressly for the purpose, and delivered to subscribers at two dollars and fifty cents per half volume or number, payable on delivery.
Subscriptions will be received at the office of the Alexandria Gazette.

County of Alexandria, ss. 1818.
November Term.
ON the petition of Henry Boswell, a rule is granted him against the representatives of John Webster, deceased, and against Rezin Webster, to show cause, on the first day of the next term, why a piece of ground situated in the town of Alexandria, late the property of William R. Webster, should not be sold, and the money divided among the representatives of the said William Webster, according to law. It is ordered, that this rule, as to Rezin Webster, be published in one of the Alexandria newspapers three weeks successively.

Gunston for Sale.
THIS elegant estate is situated on the Potomac, 16 miles below Alexandria—it is bounded on three sides by the Potomac and Pohick creek, and contains nearly 3,000 acres of land, level and fertile, to which are attached six shad and herring fisheries, two of which command the river channel. This land will be laid off in five tracts, so as to have one or more fisheries to each; these tracts will be again divided if requisite. This estate is level and beautifully situated, very fertile, and remarkably healthy. Plaster acts with an effect equal to that of any part of Virginia or Pennsylvania.—It has used 500 bushels in twelve months, and such is its beneficial operation, that were I to keep this land I should considerably increase the quantity. A manufacturing mill is distant about two miles, on a stream navigable for vessels carrying 1200 bushels of wheat, where the Baltimore and Dist. of Columbia prices are given for grain: being bounded on 3 sides by water, a small extent only of fence is necessary to inclose the whole: it would be admirably adapted to grazing. The improvements are a large and very substantial brick mansion, 40 by 70 feet, with every necessary out-house, three commodious barns, houses for Negroes, and fish houses at each of the fisheries. 120,000 bricks and 1000 bushels of lime are just burnt on the premises. There is a considerable extent of live fence, both useful and ornamental, and orchards of well-selected apples and peach, besides an abundance of other choice fruit. More than 150 acres are in clover, 200 in corn, and land is in preparation for sowing 250 bushels of small grain. Any quantity of hay can be cut from the low grounds, some of which (and all might,) have been reclaimed at a trifling expense. The river and creeks, abound with wild fowl, particularly canvas backs, the woods with deer and a variety of other game. Mules, cattle, highly improved sheep, farming utensils and household furniture can be had. The terms of sale will be accommodating. Property in any of the cities, negroes, bank stock, western lands, or lands near the Ridge, will be taken in payment.—Letters must be addressed to me at Pohick Church, Fairfax county, Virginia.
September 4 GEORGE MASON.

Valuable Property for Sale.
THE subscriber is desirous of selling a handsomely situated farm, on Hunting creek, in Fairfax county Virginia, adjoining the Mount Vernon estate and the lands of general Thomson Mason, four miles from Alexandria, containing about 240 acres, 80 of which are in wood—40 to 50 in thriving meadow of clover and timothy—a part of the residue recently seeded with wheat and rye, and clover, last spring—the whole enclosed with a new post and rail fence.—The improvements are, a comfortable and convenient frame dwelling house and kitchen, smoke house, poultry house, granary and stables.—There is on this place a rich and productive garden, and a large body of marsh meadow, from which may be saved annually 100 tons of hay, nearly as nutritious as the best timothy or clover.—With the farm would be sold a number of very valuable horses, cows and sheep; waggon carts, and a variety of farming utensils and household furniture; corn, oats and rye, and 40 tons hay. Also, adjoining the one above described, a farm containing 180 acres, recently enclosed, on which is a brick house, which is a trifling expense would render comfortable. The soil is excellent, and a considerable part might be easily converted into meadow—it would be sold with the other or separately. Also, a number of valuable servants, male and female. To prevent unnecessary application, he would observe, that they will only be sold to persons residing in the District or its vicinity, and not to be carried from it. The subscriber will also sell the greater part of his household furniture, which is new and handsome. For terms of all or any part of the above property, apply to NOBLET HERBERT, Esq. or FRANCIS ADAMS, Jr.

For Rent.
A very convenient dwelling house on the lower part of Royal-st. adjoining the house now occupied by Mr. Genere. Possession may be had immediately.
